Melous, both cantaloupes and watermelons are grown very extensively where I live. The universal market cantaloupe here is the Eurrell Eden Gem, a variety bred from the Netted Gem. Field's Daisy I have grown, and it is a good sort of the erange or salmon-colored sorts. It seems to have been bred from the Osage. Kleckly Sweet and Tom Watson are both fine watermelons. The son are both fine watermelons. The sweetest watermelon is the Melver Sugar, which I introduced to the seeds-Sugar, which I introduced to the seedsmen ten or more years ago. Tom Watson is now about the most popular watermelon. Here the cantaloupe seed are always drilled in rows five feet apart and thinned cut when a stand is secured. The soil is prepared any time in the winter and stable manure put in the furrows. Just before planting a cool application of commercial fertilgood application of commercial fertil-izer is made on top the manure and a furrow is thrown over from each side. The ridge thus made is slightly flat-tened and the seed drilled. I do not know of any way for keeping water-melons till Christmas, and if they could be kept hardly ony one would apprecinte a melon at that time.

"THE BEST."

Memphis, Tenn., October 21, 1913.

We are advised of late by several of our poultry friends that some of our competitors admit that Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed is a great egg producer. But they are also making the statement that the reason Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed produces eggs in such marvelous quantities is that we use either French mustard, red pepper or some strong stimulant or forcing powder of some kind, the result of which will be that in a few months' time the hen will be ruined, producing no eggs at all, and only fit for the butcher.

for the butcher.

We are glad that our competitors do us the credit to admit that Aunt Patsy is a great egg producer, but we deny positively that we use in the manufacture of Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed either French mustard, red pepper or any stimulant or forcing powder whatever. Our Mr. Gentry, the originator of Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed formula, is too much in love with the hen to impose on her, or be so cruel as to give her anything injurious.

It is true Aunt Patsy is a great egg producer, because it is a thoroughly balanced, scientifically blended ration, containing every ingredient of which the egg is made. In short, our Mr. Gentry is the man who put the egg in the feed, and when the hen takes this into her craw she can't help herself; it in a healthy condition she must lay an egg.

We defy any chemist in the world to find anything in Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed, the egg producer, but clean, sound, wholesome material, every ounce of which is necessary for the hen's nourishment and to enable her to produce the egg.

If your dealer does not carry Aunt Patsy in stock, write AUNT PAT-SY FEED CO., Namphis, Tenn., and they will see that you get the feed.
